

WORLD
RESOURCES
INSTITUTE

Initiative
20x20

GLOBAL COMPETITION ON BEST PRACTICES IN FOREST EDUCATION 2.0

The competition seeks to recognize the innovative work of educators teaching about forests and to share these practices with educators, foresters, students, and the general public to promote best practices developed during the COVID-19 pandemic through the present.

SUBMISSION DEADLINE 30 NOVEMBER, 2023

WORLD
RESOURCES
INSTITUTE

Initiative
20x20

COMPETITION RULES

- ✓ Only individuals and self-nominations
- ✓ Individuals should claim intellectual property of the material
- ✓ Pictures and videos of the practice should be attached. Video, if any, can be in the local language with English subtitles and credits to the authors.
- ✓ Submissions can be in English, French, Spanish (UN Languages) and Portuguese
- ✓ Practices should have been implemented in class since 2020, with continued application in post-pandemic education.
- ✓ We will shortlist 6 practices and will announce it before March 21, 2024 (before International Day of Forests). Two shortlisted practice will be announced as winners.

WORLD
RESOURCES
INSTITUTE

Initiative
20x20

SELECTION CRITERIA

- Full application
- Ability to be implemented
- Replicability of the material
- Evidence of effectiveness (e.g., students' evaluation)
- The submission should be relevant to forest science
- The submission demonstrates significant innovativeness in teaching concepts of forest science

Register now!

bit.ly/2023_BPC

30 November 2023

